

CitiBlocs for Kids

My boys love to build with blocks – towers, houses, caves, you name it!! As soon as I showed them the box of CitiBlocs, they wanted me to open them. I opened them and laid them before my kids and before I knew it, they were building towers and homes for their other toys (i.e. Scooby Doo and Shaggy). I love CitiBlocs myself because they are all the same shape and size, making clean-up super easy and fast!! These are great for birthday presents, Christmas presents, good report cards, or just because.

Stephanie Oppenheim, co-founder of toyportfolio.com said the following of CitiBlocs: "CitiBlocs are wonderful open-ended toys that invite creativity. Our testers loved that CitiBlocs were both green and engaging and it's fun to see how many variations you can make." Kids love CitiBlocs because every piece is exactly the same shape and size and each is lightweight! Kits are available from $14.99 for a starter set to $229.99 for 1,000 pieces. These toys are ideal for kids 3 and up (and parents will like them as well). Check them out today!

My boys had a blast with them and your kids will love them too! These are definitely kid-friendly and parent-friendly building blocks! CitiBlocs was featured on The Today Show and also won the 2009 Oppenheim Toy Portfolio Gold Seal Award! Kits are available from $14.99 for a starter set to $229.99 for 1,000 pieces. These toys are ideal for kids 3 and up (and parents will like them as well).

CitiBlocs will make a great Christmas gift for kids and grandkids! You might even consider giving CitiBlocs to your child's teacher for the classroom for Christmas! Check them out today!
