BOY TOYS!

By Ellis Whitman

To help you sort through that dizzying array of toys in the stores, here are a few of our favorites for that special boy in your life. This "Santa's List" of toys for boys includes bears aplenty, science kits, interactive learning games for those just learning to read, sport simulators, and sing-a-long Wii for that budding pop star.

Encouraging your child's curiosity and eagerness to learn before they reach first grade gives them a head start, so here are some products that are both fun and educational.

For the young architect, CitiBlocs are new age, nontoxic, uniform wooden construction blocks[®] that enable children ages 3 and up to imagine, create, and build. Visit www.citiblocs.com.
