

Best toys for your buck

FOX25 Morning News

When it comes to getting a bang for your buck for toys, books, music, DVDs and video games, the National Parenting Publication Awards has done the work for you. National Parenting Publications awards manager Barbara Smith Decker recently joined the FOX25 Morning News with some great suggestions.

"If you're looking to be economical with your Christmas gifts this year, you've come to the right place. Joining us this morning with some great suggestions is the NAPPA Manager, Barbara Smith Decker. First of all, tell us how you came about with this list, the criteria involved."

"We do have seven expert judges, and they also involve children judges. We feel really confident that all are very engaging to kids. When you think about the best bang for your buck, it's not just about money; it's about play value and the longevity of the toy."

"We have CitiBlocs, which is a very reasonable set. All these rectangles, about 100 for $25. You can build almost anything with them."

"Your imagination is about your only limitation there."

"Exactly. It's just a blast. About $25."
